Our new barn door frames are the epitome of Modern Farmhouse design. With cross pieces that resemble heavy timber frames and a strong hidden construction; they can be used to cap the end of an island, create a table extension or used with a panel to create a wall or cabinet door.

We've recessed one side and left the other flush, allowing you to use both sides in your designs.

The Lexington Pedestal Base brings the strength of steel with the warmth of wood to all your designs. Featuring laser cut and powder coated steel straps with square head bolts attached to North American Hardwoods.

Our three bead turned columns are reminiscent of mid-19th century Bobbin or Spool turned furniture. Mass produced for cottage style designs in the Mid 1800's, these pieces were often used in rural areas and urban cottages. Reintroduced to fit today's Modern Farmhouse home.

Nothing says Mid-Century like the iconic Hairpin Leg. Invented by Harry P. Glass in 1941 as a response to raw material shortages, the Hairpin Leg has been redesigned to fit today's aesthetic. We've taken the typical round rods and replaced them with rectangular rods and attached them to a 1.5" steel tubular base.

Our V-Fold bases are reminiscent of school house desks and industrial furniture. Both Mid-Century styles are available in 6" and ADA Compliant 9" heights and finished in 5 matte powder coated finishes.

Danish Modernism was introduced in the US market in the mid 1950's with the introduction of mass produced Danish designs. The clean, pure lines emphasized the beauty of the material.

Our Shoin and Danish Modern Pedestals exemplify this simple aesthetic. Constructed from stave construction to showcase our beautiful North American Hardwoods. Each piece is gently shaped to highlight the grain of the wood.

Shelving & Supports

"Nature is the inspiration for all ornamentation."

- Frank Lloyd Wright

Open concept living has led to open shelving design. Featuring both cabinet grade and rustic wood shelves and heavy metal support brackets, our flat and floating shelves are offered in multiple sizes and finishes.

Light, airy and open.

The hallmark of today's kitchen designs. One of the best ways to achieve this look is to remove the upper cabinets and replace them with open shelving.

But, not just any open shelving.

Our Floating Shelves have been tested by UL® to hold 200lbs. Our unique rustic finish features hand scraped surfaces, tight knots and open grain. Perfect for today's Modern Farmhouse, Coastal or Mountain home.

Our flat shelves are the perfect way to create an industrial feel or an elegant design.
